

Phase 1 MB ChB Engagement Policy

MB ChB

December 2024

Policy Statement

The purpose of this document is to define the policies for monitoring and supporting learning and engagement in compulsory teaching and learning events to align with the engagement requirements of Phase 1 of the University of Buckingham MB ChB course as detailed below.

Definitions

For purposes of this document the word “engagement” relates to the proactive involvement of a student and/or group of students in their learning activities. This means that students are not only present during their group work activities but that they make an active contribution to group work learning both through verbal and written communication and physical contributions.

Unauthorised absence is where the absence notification or certification procedure has not been followed or the reason for absence doesn't meet the criteria for authorisation.

Purpose

The purpose of this document is to define the policy for monitoring and supporting learning and engagement in all teaching and learning activities to align with the engagement requirements of Phase 1 of the University of Buckingham MB ChB course as detailed below.

Scope

Policy covering curriculum engagement by Phase 1 students on the MB ChB course.

Policy Details

The MB ChB degree is achieved following a programme of professional training, and students must demonstrate professional attitudes and behaviours consistent with the high standards that are expected of a doctor by the time they graduate. This means standards of engagement appropriate for a practicing professional.

In line with the MB ChB General Regulations, the Medical School stipulates that all students must meet the standards and learning outcomes defined by the General Medical Council in 'Outcomes for Graduates 2018' in order to successfully graduate. The nature of the MB ChB programme, the design of the curriculum, group work and self-directed learning structure do not allow for repeated missed sessions or for sessions where students have not been fully engaged.

The University has general expectations about attendance and engagement of all students which are defined in the University General Regulations for First Degrees and all these regulations are stipulated in the MB ChB Student Agreement. These requirements are to ensure that students learn efficiently and collaboratively but ensures that all medical students complete the sufficient hours of clinical training. Additionally, the Medical School has a detailed absence and leave policy which should be read in conjunction with this engagement policy.

Therefore, due to the nature of the curriculum design, educational model and the required learning outcomes of all students, and in line with the expectations set out above, all students must demonstrate engagement with 100% of all scheduled learning events to meet the requirements set out by the University of Buckingham Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences. All students have scheduled periods of leave (scheduled holiday) during the course so learning and engagement at all other times is mandatory.

Furthermore, to align with the foundation training programme guidance around absence thresholds and checks regarding training requirements, as well as visa requirements, we are ensuring that all non-engagement is accounted for in engagement-monitoring. Any leave / absence may have an impact on the training needs or visa status of an individual student.

Engagement requirements in Phase 1

Phase 1 of the MB ChB is delivered mainly on campus; however, all students will have a small amount of teaching in both primary and secondary care. Students must engage in all the teaching and learning events that are scheduled, including lectures, group work, workshops, assessments, anatomy tasks and sessions as required.

Additionally, the university expects students to actively engage in their sessions and, as such, student "engagement" will be monitored throughout their educational activities. Engagement will be deemed as a student's attendance at and interactions (with peers, staff, resources, and activities) in group work and will be recorded periodically as part of scheduled 'spot-checks' of engagement.

Staff members teaching within the curriculum activities will be responsible for assessing engagement and no challenge to those judgements will be possible.

The Medical School expects all students to manage absences in line with absence and leave policy. However, absence from any learning session for whatever reason will be considered as non-engagement with the learning event and may count towards action being taken.

Monitoring Engagement in Phase 1

The Medical School will monitor student engagement using several metrics including, but not limited to:

1. Spot-checks of engagement in small group sessions (i.e. engagement with peers, staff, resources, and activities)
2. Engagement in all CSFC and NM timetabled curriculum sessions
3. Engagement in clinical placements (within CSFC and NM)

Data Processing, Thresholds and Consequences

The curriculum team will review the automated collation of engagement data collected from the spot checks. Through an automated process, Student Support authorised absence records will be matched to the curriculum spot check data and a running total of absence and engagement data collected.

The non-engagement record is cumulative over Phase 1 and does not reset termly or annually. Authorised absences will be monitored as described in the absence and leave policy.

Alongside this process anyone can contact the student support team if they are concerned about an individual student's engagement pattern.

If there is an issue with engagement records staff in student support and curriculum teams will discuss and resolve.

Where a student is requested to attend a meeting related to their engagement it is the student's responsibility to arrange the meeting within a 48h period as stipulated within the student agreement.

Student monitoring and consequences

If engagement is a concern, the student will receive a first email about the lack of engagement. Following this email, the student should re-engage in their studies as soon as possible and no further action is required.

If non-engagement continues, for any reason, the student will be sent an email requiring that they book and attend an appointment with student support. The student must attend this appointment in a timely manner, in which they will discuss barriers to engagement.

Consequences of recurring non-engagement

If continuous or recurring repeated non-engagement or absence occurs by any student, the school may proceed to escalate the case straight to the Dean, an outcome of which may be a compulsory suspension of studies.

Students can appeal any outcome decision via the appeals process, details of which can be obtained via FMHS-appeals@buckingham.ac.uk.

Responsibilities

Phase 1 Lead is responsible for the update and review of this policy on an annual basis.
